Mantels with trumeau in stone

Classic Louis XIII stone fireplace with trumeau : Baux de Provence

This French fireplace with trumeau is a classic Louis XIII mantelpiece hand-carved in Provence into the stone of Estaillades (a natural limestone extracted from our quarries located in Provence). This fireplace features a pair of thin straight jambs supporting a massive concave lintel, a finely molded tablet, a rather sober trumeau topped by a cornice with sculpted moldings. An opulent molding is carved all along the jambs and the lintel.
