Mantels with trumeau in stone

Beautiful fireplace with trumeau in natural French limestone - Louis XIV style

This fireplace with trumeau carved in the natural stone of Provence "Estaillades" is a fine example of a classic Louis XIV mantelpiece in stone. It features a large mold surrounding the entire hearth opening (typical of that style). Sculptures adorn the monolith lintel that rests on a pair of jambs carved in console. The tablet is finely molded. The hood (or trumeau) is very finely hand-carved and sculpted. The large overhanging cornice is also molded. Hand-crafted in Provence.
